

OPEN PLAY

1. Generally, there is no Organizer present, but this is still considered club-organized play.
2. First come, first on. No pre-registration.
3. Generally, players may play with whomever they wish if there is more court space than players.
4. If there are more players than court space:
 - A system should be used for equitable rotation of players and assignment of courts.
 - Players should come off the courts and go into the rotation system after each game to 11.
 - Players may withhold paddles to play as a two-some or four-some, but may not jump the queue.

SOCIAL PLAY

1. Social Play is a less competitive style of play. Advanced players play to extend the rally and do not attempt to win points with shots not returnable by the less skilled players on the court.
2. Social Play may be combined with one or more other forms of play such as Paddle Box Play, or Round Robin and Open Play.
